Chamber passes resolution against county school site

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at its Thursday meeting presented a resolution opposing the location of a new county school adjacent to Stennis International Airport.

Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, however, contends that the action is inappropriate since the construction contract is scheduled to be bid in three to four weeks, and clearing of the site has already begun.

President of the Chamber board Rick Eagan said, "The chamber supports the stand taken previously by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Port and Harbor Commission," in opposition to the new school site.

Randolph stated that the site had been approved by the county school board, State Department of Education and the Education Finance Commission after an intensive selection process during which approximately 12 potential sites were analyzed.

The resolution states that the airport constitutes a multi-million dollar investment on the part of the taxpayers of Hancock County, and that the adjacent location of the school would hamper growth of the park.

It continues saying, "the ability to learn and safety of the students should not be jeopardized by the placement of the new educational facility adjacent to air-related and industrial activity."

The resolution points out that growth of the park is already limited by the Stennis Space Center buffer zone to the west and by undevelopable land to the southeast leaving only the school site for location of new industry.

"We want to see things grow in the county," Eagan said. "We aren't saying we shouldn't have a new school; we are just saying we don't think that site is conducive to good education."

The chamber decided to take a stand at this late date because, according to Eagan, the issue had become a topic of public conversation as a result of a petition circulating in the county.

But according to Randolph, the State Board of Education responded to the petition with a letter stating that the site has been scrutinized numerous times, the latest time two weeks ago, and that they would take no further action on the matter.

The Port and Harbor Commission, under whose auspices the airport is operated, has been opposed to the site since it was first considered over a year ago for the same reasons expressed by the chamber.

"We know the new school is needed, but it isn't conducive to an airport setting. The airport was already there and you just don't put a school in that type of location. We are going after any kind of activity, military or industrial, and industry doesn't want the liability represented by having a school there," said Port and Harbor Director Harold Buzz Olsen.

Olsen said, "I am interested in the airport by Keesler Air Force Base for flyovers and practices."

GUEST SPEAKERS—Geraldine Lang, left, and Danny Abramowitz were among those attending the Mississippi Gulf Coast Association of Federal Administrators kickoff of the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) Thursday at the Naval Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport. Abramowitz, former New Orleans Saints football star, was the featured speaker. Lang was also a guest speaker, representing the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), for the CFC campaign which has a goal of $600,000. The drive solicits contributions from 25,000 federal employees on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. RSVP is one of the 18 agencies funded by the Hancock County United Way, which receives support from the CFC drive. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

SENATORIAL CANDIDATE—U.S. Congressman Trent Lott, left, chats with Larry Ladner, Hildon Shaw and a host of supporters on Saturday at the 10th Annual Hancock County Republican Cook-Out at the A.K. Martinovich residence in Bay St. Louis. Congressman Lott and Sheriff Lark Smith were the featured speakers at the cook-out. Republican Lott is facing Democratic nominee Wayne Dowdy in the November General Election to fill the Senatorial seat of the retiring U.S. Senator John C. Stennis in January. Smith is the Republican nominee, facing Democrat Gene Taylor, to fill the Congressional seat being vacated by Lott. Shaw is Lott's Hancock County election chairman. Thomas decides: Bourg can run

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Hancock County Circuit Court Judge has decided to overturn the Hancock County Election Commission's disqualification of Hilda Bourg, a former member of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee, as a candidate for Beat Three supervisor.

Judge James Thomas, who had gone to the Mississippi Supreme Court's law library in Jackson to do research on the matter, will issue an opinion on Monday explaining the reasons for his decision, Circuit Clerk Pamela Metzler said.

Metzler, who received Thomas' answer to Bourg's problem in a long-distance telephone call late Friday afternoon, reported that the judge had stated that Bourg's case was "unique" and that he was unable to find a precedent.

He had also stated that "the election commission did the right thing" in voting to disqualify Bourg and thereby allowing her to pursue the matter in court.

The commission had voted on the advice of Commission Attorney Gerald Gex at a Sept. 12 meeting where all of the other candidates who had submitted petitions were found qualified to run. Bourg had resigned from the executive committee on March 21 in order to help her chances of qualifying.

Gex had cited two Mississippi Supreme Court cases, Breland vs. Mallett and Meeks vs. Tallahatchie County, contending that they indicated that a party executive committee member is bound by the same restrictions placed on county election, commissioners and therefore could not run for office before expiration of his committee membership.

However, the two cases involved primary elections in which the parties involved had taken some part in election preparations. In Bourg's case, the election is not a primary but is instead a special election called to fill a vacant seat resulting from an "Operation Pretense" resignation.

According to Beat One Election Commissioner Jimmy Ladner, the ballots for the Nov. 8 election are ready for printing, with the exception of the addition of Bourg's name.

The commissioners were holding the ballots for Thomas' decision, and the addition of Bourg's name will cause no delay.

"I'm glad she's on the ballot because I don't agree with the law," Ladner said. "It is something which needs to be corrected by the legislature."

He said the matter may be pursued through the Mississippi Association of Election Commissioners, because the law is not "corrected." Every similar situation in which a candidate is disqualified could have created special circumstances and could result in delay and additional election expenses.

Solid rocket producers Lockheed, Aerojet open Corinth office

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies celebrated the opening of a Corinth, Miss. office by Lockheed Missiles and Space Company and Aerojet General, team partners competing for NASA's Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) program.
The office was established to enable Lockheed and Aerojet to expand operations in the Mississippi area, according to Howard Trudeau, Lockheed's ASRM program manager, and Chuck Levinsky, Aerojet's ASRM vice president.
The ASRM is a next-generation, improved rocket motor to replace the current Space Shuttle boosters. It incorporates significant design changes to improve reliability and safety, as well as increasing performance. An ASRM factory will be built that uses the latest technology in automation and process control to produce the most reliable solid rocket motor possible.
On July 26, NASA selected the Tennessee Valley Authority's Yellow Creek property—about 20 miles east of Corinth—as the site of the ASRM production plant. The ASRM motors will be tested at the Stennis Space Center.
Bidding as a team, Lockheed will serve as prime contractor and Aerojet as major partner. Lockheed will provide systems engineering and integration and will have overall responsibility and accountability for the project. Aerojet will subcontract to Lockheed for the propulsion design, development and production.
"We believe this total system approach will best achieve the program's objective to produce the safest, most reliable booster for the Space Shuttle," Trudeau said. "Both companies consider the ASRM as one of the most important future projects in the nation's manned space program."

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Pasta of all sorts, penny-wise and filling, from spaghetti to macaroni to the thinnest of noodles, is a good main dish of infinite variety—after all, you needn't always serve your pasta drenched in tomato sauce.
Take a lesson from the cooks of Italy, who present their pastas with sauces such as shrimp or oysters in garlicky oil-and-butter or even just with butter or oil and grated cheese, well peppered.
An easy dish is one which comes down to modern days from workers of other days in the fields of sunny Italy—and even today, those same toilers in the fields take along with them their wine and the 'makings' of their midday meal, to be cooked over an open fire as they relax a bit from their labors. Here's:

SPAGHETTI CARBONARA

1 lb. thin spaghetti
3 eggs
1/2 cup each grated Parmesan and Romano cheeses
1 clove garlic, minced
8 slices bacon, diced
2 Tbsp. olive oil
1/3 cup dry white wine
Freshly ground black pepper
Cook the spaghetti in boiling water for several minutes—or 'al dente'—to the teeth, in other words, not mushy—while you prepare the sauce. (A friend of mine maintains that the only way to be sure that you have stopped the spaghetti at just the right moment is to toss a strand at the kitchen wall. If it sticks, it isn't cooked yet, though, if it slides, it's ready—and if it slithers down the wall, you've gone too far and might as well make a mushy pudding, or something!)

At any rate, cook the spaghetti and let it stay warm in the pot, while you beat the eggs (which you've let to come to room temperature, I should have reminded you of that sooner) with the cheeses and the garlic.

Fry the bacon in the oil till it crisps, but do not drain the grease. Add the wine and continue cooking as the wine evaporates. Drain the spaghetti, and return to the warm pot. Add the bacon-wine mixture, stirring together quickly, then add the cheese-egg-garlic mixture, along with lots of pepper, or less, if you're not a pepper fiend such as I.

At any rate, toss quickly so that the egg-mixture 'cooks' to atop the hot pasta. In the authentic version of Old Italy, you serve the pasta unadorned, with each diner adding bacon and cheese to his taste, breaking a raw egg atop his serving, and stirring all together with his fork—but, when I tried that, my family rebelled, so I learned that I must mix it all well together out of sight! (Four servings)

New service offers credit-card-charged telephone bills

South Central Bell customers in Mississippi will soon have a convenient, time-saving alternative for paying their telephone bills and deposits for new service. The new payment option becomes available Oct. 1 and will allow South Central Bell customers to charge their residential and business phone bill payments on their bank credit cards any time day or night, seven days a week, by calling a toll-free number.

"Our primary interest is to provide the best telephone service to our customers and to make it easy for them to do business with us," said Pat Santucci, district manager for South Central Bell.

Customers may use their Visa or MasterCard to pay their telephone bills by calling Comdata Network, Inc., a money-transfer company based in Nashville, Tenn.

Comdata will charge customers a fee in addition to the amount to be remitted to South Central Bell. For telephone bills up to $100, the fee is $3.95. Additional fees apply for amounts over $100. South Central Bell only receives the amount of the telephone bill and does not receive any portion of the fee charged by Comdata Network.

"Today convenience is a primary factor in making purchases, and bank cards can be used to buy everything from groceries to airline tickets. We want to be in step with customers, and this is another option that will make it easier for some customers to do business with South Central Bell," Santucci said.

South Central Bell customers interested in the bank card payment option may call their service representative at the number listed in the Customer Guide section in the front of the telephone directory.

Credit clinics cannot erase faulty credit

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Management Specialist

For consumers with a bad credit history, the quick and simple solutions offered by credit clinics may sound appealing. But, despite the promises they make, no one can erase a bad credit record.

In fact, the use of a credit clinic may end up causing you more problems and costing you more money in the long run. Some credit clinics offer debt consolidations for what you currently owe, but neglect to tell you that they will require you to use your home as collateral. Other companies will take your money and refer you to a bankruptcy lawyer who will charge additional fees.

Actually, consumers don't need a clinic to correct their ratings. You have the right under the Fair Credit Reporting Act to review the information contained in your credit file. If you request a copy from the credit reporting agency within 30 days after credit denial, there is no charge. Notify the credit agency if you find inaccurate information in the file. They are required by law to investigate disputes and remove any items that cannot be substantiated. If the credit bureau confirms the disputed information, you may write a statement telling your side of the story to be included in your credit file.

Start building a good record now if all negative information in the file is correct. Handle bank accounts carefully. Start a savings account. Borrow small amounts of money. Secure loans with savings or other collateral if necessary. Keep in mind to never commit more than 20 percent of take-home pay to monthly credit payments (excluding mortgage).

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This is the time of the year when days begin to get shorter and shorter as winter is fast approaching. As for myself, I like the longer days because I seem to be able to accomplish more during the longer hours of daylight.

Guess this is coming up to the time of year when I will have to cut down on the number of things I am trying to do.

I do not know whether I am any different than anyone else, but I seem never to be able to catch up.

Of course, I have had conversations with others who have the same problem.

It also seems this is the time of year when there appear to be more operators using vehicles on our highways and roadways with only one headlight.

Even walking the streets of Bay St. Louis in the evenings I have noted several vehicles with one headlight operating in recent weeks, not to mention the number of cars and trucks I see as I drive about the area.

I realize there are times when a stone strikes a headlight on a vehicle and it is broken, but it seems the operator of such a vehicle should note this and have the beam replaced.

On very dark nights, especially when it is raining, it is sure hard to know which side of the road a vehicle is really on when meeting each other on two-way roads.

It is dangerous and unlawful to operate a vehicle with a non-operable headlight.

The talk of the town on Thursday centered around the Discovery shuttle launch.

It had been 32 months since the Challenger's tragedy and many of us had thoughts of it as Discovery was leaving the Cape. I know I sadly reflected on the disaster which created a shock wave which reverberated throughout this nation and the world as millions of viewers watched in shock and stunned silence as Challenger exploded.

The frequent delays, postponements and many months of wait must have been a tremendous strain for the Discovery crew.

We are glad America is back into the space program and wish all of our astronauts success in the many flights scheduled to come.

Congratulations are in order for the many employees at the Stennis Space Center, because the numerous tests they did on the Discovery's engines played an important role in the successful launch.

Vendors doing business with Hancock County will find several changes in the way purchases are now going to be made by the county.

The new changes are to go into effect for the entire state on January 1, 1989. Since the county's fiscal year begins on October 1, our supervisors felt it would be to the county's benefit to begin the new purchasing procedures at the beginning of the new fiscal year.

One thing is that every purchase made by any department of the county must have a purchase order from a central purchasing clerk.

In other words, one person will be responsible for all purchases, and this includes equipment, supplies, commodities, materials and services used by any department of the county.

Vendors doing business with the county needing more information can contact Greg Pfeiffer, purchase clerk, at 467-4231.

I have known Greg for many years and know he is excited about his new position and I think he will do an outstanding job.

I would like to wish him the best of luck.

"That's not sugar I'm giving him... it's aspirin!"

FROM THE CAPITOL

By Governor Ray Mabus

We could, if we choose, wait for another time to confront a serious challenge that faces us today in state government. In fact, we have waited since the days of the Great Depression for action.

But to put it quite bluntly, the executive branch of state government—that which implements the laws and programs under which you live—is muddled up beyond belief. Instead of a quick death, the toll that it exacts on Mississippians is a slow, agonizing one.

We have to deal with this problem.

I am currently reviewing recommendations for streamlining state government compiled by the state Executive Branch Reorganization Study Commission. Special House and Senate committees also are reviewing the problem.

It is widely acknowledged that despite the best efforts and good intentions of those who serve in the executive branch, your state government is in many ways ineffective.

Even though reorganization will lessen the governor's power because the governor will be under much greater scrutiny by the Legislature and the public, I think it is absolutely necessary.

I want change—just as I believe you want change—so that Mississippi can achieve its full potential. I campaigned on a platform of positive change, and I aim to fulfill the hopes and dreams and faith you have placed in me.

No one ever succeeded by sitting on his hands, and no state ever moved forward by being complacent or fearful of change.

To accept the structure of our executive branch of state government is to accept that it is working at or near its full potential despite strong evidence to the contrary. I do not accept that notion.

I believe the very nature of democracy calls on each of us to question the institutions that serve us. To do otherwise is to invite severe consequences.

Some question how services will be improved by streamlining the executive branch of state government, which consists of 150 agencies; boards and commissions governed for the most part by some 700 unelected policy makers.

But at least five major studies in the last half century have clearly shown that innovation, creativity and quick reactions to problems have been long stifled in Mississippi by a rigid, multi-layered bureaucracy.

Many also have questioned whether reorganization as recommended by the study commission will save the $60 million a year it estimated.

But even if it saves $1 million, it is $1 million in taxpayers' hard earned money that will not be frittered away on duplication and bureaucracy.

State government reorganization is not about money, although I am certain substantial savings will result. State government reorganization is about making government work better—nothing more, nothing less.

From The Office of Senator Thad Cochran

Resolution cites importance of wild and scenic rivers

Senator Thad Cochran is sponsoring a resolution citing the importance of wild and scenic rivers to America.

The resolution designates the week of Oct. 2-8 as "Wild and Scenic Rivers Act Week," to commemorate legislation enacted in 1968 to protect the nation's rivers.

"The future of America's rivers depends on the continued implementation of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act," Cochran said, "and the development of innovative river protection strategies."

Cochran has earlier sponsored and helped pass legislation designating several thousand acres of forestland and a scenic river in Mississippi as wilderness areas.

"It is important that we preserve these scenic outdoor rivers and areas for present and future generations of Americans," Cochran commented.

"Under the 1968 act, over 7,700 miles of river in 28 states, all over our nation, have been protected," he commented. "But the job is not complete, as hundreds more of these priceless rivers need attention."

He said the resolution, S. J. Res. 378, is being co-sponsored by a bipartisan group of senators. "Due to the foresight of Congress 20 years ago, the lives of future generations of Americans will be enriched, as ours are today, by these national treasures."

Cochran pointed out the National Park Service's State and Local River Conservation Assistance Program is working to develop local initiatives to designate and protect smaller scenic rivers.

Mabus reorganization support ends legislative honeymoon

The honeymoon between Gov. Ray Mabus and the Legislature, at least what's left of the honeymoon, is apparently about to come to an end over Mabus' drive to put through a massive reorganization of state government.

While lawmakers agreed in the 1988 legislative session to give Mabus $350,000 for a special commission to make a study on streamlining government, now that the study has been completed they evidently are not inclined to accept its findings.

In fact, both branches of the Legislature at the special session on county government reform in August decided to create their own committees to pick apart the Mabus Commission report.

Already the House and Senate panels have made clear they are ignoring Mabus' idea of having a special session of the Legislature in November to deal with the Mabus Commission report.

Both committees have indicated they don't expect to complete their work until sometime in December. The 1989 regular session will convene on Jan. 3.

Mabus could, of course, call the special session in November, as he has indicated he would do, but it seemed virtually certain from soundings made of lawmakers that they would immediately vote to adjourn after the session convened.

When the House and Senate committees meet jointly this week, a proposal is expected to be made to put them on record as opposed to a special session on reorganization.

Mabus had been elected in 1987 on a campaign pledge to reorganize state government and reduce the 160 existing agencies to approximately 15, a move he said could save $40 to $60 million for use in helping to fund teacher pay raises.

When the Mabus commission finished its study several weeks ago, it proposed consolidation of the 160 executive branch agencies into 21 umbrella departments. The commission said the revamping of government potentially would save $64 million and eliminate 900 job slots.

Not only have lawmakers questioned the cost-cutting claims of the Mabus commission but also some of the commission recommendations have been labeled as politically unrealistic by legislators.

Last week Rep. Tommy Walman of McComb, chairman of the House panel, suggested that the committee not spend much time on such proposals as putting junior colleges under the State College Board or abolishing charity hospitals or giving the governor direct control of the state Personnel Board.

"We all know they'd probably save money, probably increase services rendered, but frankly the votes are just not there," Walman, who had served on the Mabus Commission, declared.

One member of the House panel, Rep. Steve Holland of Plantersville, said folks in his area "see some sinister motives behind this (the Mabus Commission proposals)...they see it as a concentration of power in the executive branch."

Earlier, when the Senate panel met, Sen. Glen Deweese of Meridian, who also had served on the Mabus Commission, said he believed the committee should "start from scratch" and make its own reorganization recommendations.

Deweese, who sponsored the measure creating the Mabus Commission and earlier helped Mabus with other legislative proposals, reportedly has become cool towards Mabus' program after being subjected to an angry outburst by the governor following the August special session.

There have also been reports that Lt. Gov. Brad Dye, who surprisingly became a legislative ally of Mabus in the 1988 regular session and the August special session, has begun to position himself for a break with Mabus in the governmental reorganization issue.

In appointing the Senate reorganization study committee, Dye had cautioned the panel against eliminating boards and commissions which have worked well in the past.

Dye confounded Senate observers by naming Sen. Cy Rosenblatt of Jackson, certainly not one of Dye's lieutenants, to chair the reorganization panel.

Some speculated that this was beginning of a move by Dye to neutralize senators who could be the swing votes in a rules change fight to limit the lieutenant governor's legislative powers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Taylor refutes contents of Larkin Smith letter

Editor,

I wish to take issue with the distorted remarks made by Larkin Smith in a recent letter sent to voters soliciting support and contributions for his campaign for the Fifth District seat in Congress.

In his letter, my opponent urges voters to support him "to prevent the left-wing radicals and special interest groups in Washington from gaining the influence they want in Mississippi...my liberal opponent is exactly the type of candidate the special interest groups and other left-wing organizations want to represent them in Congress."

Sheriff Smith must be desperate to resort to the use of inflammatory remarks in this campaign. Here I am, running a positive campaign, and he is distorting facts.

I don't know what left-wing radicals and special interest groups are interested in my candidacy. But I certainly have no interest in them.

A review of my record in the state Senate and my position on critical issues facing this country clearly show that I am beholden to no one.

In his letter, Smith also chided me for opposing creation of a "Multi-National Task Force with authority to enter the source country to eliminate cocaine production where it begins," which he supports. I am quoted as calling the idea "naive and childish."

I have advocated publicly as a state Senator and a candidate that I believe in mandatory life sentences for people convicted of manufacturing and distributing large quantities of drugs. I have given Sheriff Smith several opportunities to endorse such an idea.

The largest drug smugglers are the governments of countries like Colombia, Panama and Laos. The idea that these countries would send their troops to tear up their own drug fields certainly is childish and naive.

Smith's endorsement of the task force also shows a lack of understanding of international relations and the role of Congress. Any such task force would fall within the jurisdiction of the executive branch of government, not Congress, whose role is legislation.

I support economic sanctions against governments known to export drugs and beefed-up enforcement of drug laws in this country by agencies such as the U.S. Coast Guard, Drug Enforcement Administration and others.

My main concern about Sheriff Smith's letter is his attempt to turn a clean campaign into a mud-slinger.

Sincerely,
Gene Taylor

By Dena Bisnette

Sometimes people ask me why I work for a newspaper. It could be the diversity of the job. If I ever have two days that are exactly alike, it's going to be a new record.

The Sea Coast Echo is such a small newspaper that there are no specialists, unlike a daily where I once worked. There I only wrote stories. Even my headlines were done by someone else, and I never touched a page layout. (I couldn't; the composition room personnel belonged to a union and you had to be a member to touch a page. If an editor spotted a crooked caption, he had to go get someone who was in the union to fix it.)

I had the most diverse job in the entire building because I covered more than one town or county and, due to a shortage of photographers, I also took my own pictures.

Here, everyone has a diverse job. The publisher does everything his employees do and waters the plants, classified people also serve as receptionists, the guys who run the press also develop film, the circulation manager and typesetter both proofread, editors also report, reporters also do layout and we all refill the toilet paper in the restrooms.

I didn't even try to list what the general manager, display advertising and backshop people do. If I explained everything, there wouldn't be room to print this.

The diversity doesn't end there, which can be fun sometimes and on other days can drive a person to utter distraction.

Just Friday afternoon I was hit with the diversity of the knowledge I have had to accumulate in five years here. I've become an expert in Hancock County Trivia Pursuit, and I'm still learning.

I have had to learn a little bit about an awful lot of subjects ranging from alligators who get to close to residential districts to wastewater management facilities. (Believe it or not, those two are actually related. Alligators just love sewage lagoons.)

Take Friday as an example. That morning I attended a county board meeting where the subject matter ranged from bidding procedures to boat launches.

I got back to the office, and somebody wanted me to call back regarding a story I had written for Thursday on the 911 project. He wanted some additional information and mentioned wanting to engage a speaker on the subject. Since newspapers have names and telephone numbers on all manner of things, I gave him some names and numbers. I hope it helped.

After lunch, I took a promotional photo for an art show in Pass Christian, tried to chase down a legal problem I'm writing about, and worked on this column.

Then I took telephone calls regarding the legal problem, which involves a judge's decision regarding whether a candidate is allowed to be on the ballot.

All this during the day, and then I had to shift gears to cover a football game.

How much more diversified can a day be? Come to see me on a Saturday.

On Saturday I pick up crime reports and obituaries, take pictures, prepare the pictures to be put on the page and layout the pages. In between I take messages about people who want subscriptions interrupted, started or cancelled and explain to callers that the classified people just aren't in on Saturdays and I can't help; I don't know where the records are and I'm not allowed to touch the money. I also deal with visitors who drop by, most of whom are looking for Ellis.

Poor Ellis helps with all this and tries to do his paperwork too, but he's so popular I don't know how he gets to do anything.

When people ask me why I work for a newspaper, I usually say that I'm just not the kind of person who can be tied down in an office all day. I like dealing with people too much for that, and it's more fun if I can work with them in their own element.

Sometimes, I tell the story about being a teacher who took a job in what was the wrong environment for me and left at the Christmas holiday break, only to go back to the town where I'd finished high school and find a reporter was resigning from the newspaper there. I got his job and tried it on for size.

That was seven years ago. When you can go seven years and not have two days quite the same, that's a good reason not to change your trade if you like diversity.

Maybe that's why I work for a newspaper.

drops is an example of the kind of military activity the commission would like to see expanded at the park.

He also said an industry which would provide 200 jobs currently interested in the park may not locate there because of the school.

Olsen said the commission will do anything to possible to have the school located elsewhere.

"If they want out of that property we will gladly buy it from them," Olsen said.

Randolph said the people who want the school located elsewhere all have their own personal motives.

"Some people don't want the school moved from North Central, others want to move it closer to where they live, and others are just looking out for their own pockets because their property value would increase if the school was near them. Others are just sentimental and want their children to go to school where they went to school," Randolph said.

"Another motive is," he claims, "whatever Randolph wants, we don't want."

He claims the reasons for locating the school at the site outnumber the reasons not to build it there.

A major reason for building the school at the park is the location of Pearl River Junior College's Vocational Center near the school site and with access to their facilities, according to Randolph, Hancock County will have a first-rate education center.

Other pluses to having the school at that site are, according to Randolph: it is centrally located, the amount of traffic on Highway 603 will be reduced because most school-related traffic will be off the highway within five minutes, and the site provides access to water and sewerage.

He said Entex Natural Gas approached him last week about running a gas line to the school.

"Entex said the Port and Harbor Commission had been trying to get them to run natural gas to the park for years but there wasn't anything out there to warrant spending the money needed to run a line," Randolph said. "They told me if the school is there they will run the line."

He added that, because of the school, the State Highway Department decided to four-lane 603 north of Interstate 10 to the entrance of the park in the first phase of improvement to the highway instead of in a later phase.

Randolph doesn't think the airport presents a hazard to the school.

"I am a pilot. At no time, going in or out, does a plane go near the school site. Approach is probably a mile away," he said.

Of the chamber's action he said, "I don't think they have looked at all the factors involved compared to the months the board spent to find the best location."

"No matter where we locate the school someone is not going to like it; it is probably one of the most emotional issues to be involved in."

He concluded, saying if millions in taxpayer's dollars have been invested in the airport then the taxpayers should demand a refund.

"There is nothing out there. My office at the park employs more people than all the other businesses there combined," he stated.

Billie Faye Lyons, one of the school board members who was opposed the choice of the site, said her reason for voting against it was the safety factor involved.

"My brother is the director of the Orlando airport, and when he came here and saw where we were putting the school he said he thought we were crazy," Lyons said.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity!

WASHINGTON-Obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident, a research scientist confirmed recently.

In studies with potential cholesterol-lowering agents, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1 all lost weight, in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, while body weight in control groups remained constant.

Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is not clear, but suggest it is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of caloric-rich dietary fats. Although scientists for some time have known of substances with the capability of producing this effect, the dramatic impact on weight reduction was not known until recently. Substances with a greater potential to block absorption will produce greater weight loss results.

The director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the investigation and research of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, stated, "The mechanism by which FS-1 works to decrease body weight is actually a more complex and sophisticated process called nutrionbonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, FS-1 releases nutrients with low caloric content into the body, while high-calorie fats are eliminated, thus providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of calories."

Studies with FS-1 indicate weight loss results clearly superior to products currently available for the treatment of obesity. In a comparative study by NDR, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, FS-1 was found to be the most effective treatment for obesity and the most acceptable to patients.

The discovery comes as welcome news to thousands of obesity sufferers waiting years for this type of breakthrough. According to a spokesperson at NDR, "FS-1 can be made available to the public immediately, because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe. A drug with essentially the same weight loss capabilities might take as long as eight years to be available, due to lengthy delays encountered in the approval process." FS-1 is currently available on a limited basis through physicians and pharmacies for $24.98.

An instruction sheet for proper use and optimum results is provided with each bottle of 100 tablets.

Schmidt named fellow

Dr. Frank Schmidt of Pass Christian was named as a fellow of the American College of Radiology (ACR) during ceremonies at the ACR annual meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio. Selected for his outstanding contributions to the field of radiology, Dr. Schmidt was named as one of 136 new fellows by the college's board of chancellors.

Fellowships in the college are awarded for significant scientific or clinical research in the field of radiology, or significant contributions to its literature. Criteria for selection also include performance of outstanding service as a teacher of radiology, service to organized medicine and an outstanding reputation among colleagues and local community as a result of long-term superior service.

The American College of Radiology is a national organization serving more than 20,000 radiologists, radiation oncologists and radiologic physicists, with programs focusing on the practice of radiology and the delivery of comprehensive radiologic health services.

USM polymer research may aid space program

The cost and time involved in the production of solid-fueled rockets may be reduced, thanks to new polymers being developed at University of Southern Mississippi.

Dr. Rob Storey, project director and an assistant professor of polymer science at USM, said the project is being funded by a $35,000 grant from Morton Thiokol Inc., which produces solid rocket boosters used in the U.S. space shuttle program.

Storey said the department has received a total of $105,000 for the project. He noted the new materials, which are ionomers, would be used to hold fuel and oxidizer in place in the tail end of rockets. Because they are produced using a heating process instead of a chemical reaction, he said they will be quicker and cheaper to produce than materials currently in use.

Storey said the primary uses of these materials probably would be in small rockets and missiles, such as helicopter-launched rockets.

Ladner also stated that not correcting the law could weaken local party executive committees; because it will become more difficult to recruit members if running for office is prohibited.

Bourg said she was "ecstatically happy" at the news that she could run for supervisor.

"I have been getting a lot of public support and this has gotten me through it," she said.

"Now I'm four weeks behind and have a long row to hoe."

Hank Williams Jr., Statler Bros, Randy Travis headline 1988 Mississippi State Fair Oct. 5-16

The 129th edition of the Mississippi State Fair is scheduled from Oct. 5-16 at the Fairgrounds Complex in Jackson. Last year, almost 564,000 people visited the Mississippi State Fair, the largest number in the fair's history. We expect to top that attendance in 1988," said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Buck Ross, chairman of the State Fair Commission, sponsor of the fair. Activities really begin with a bang at 5 p.m., Oct. 5 when a young woman is shot from a cannon on Amite Street onto the fairgrounds. Billy Orr, manager of the fair and secretary of the fair commission, said, "Using a cannon with a human cannonball to open the fair was such a popular event last year that we wanted a repeat event in 1988. It's really something to see!" Tommy Strickland, livestock manager, said, "We're expecting top quality livestock and exhibitors to participate in the various competitions. These competitions are always a highlight of the fair."

Senior Citizens Day is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., Oct. 12 with free gate admission and plenty of activities including a political rally in the Budweiser Pavilion.

Advance tickets are available at the Coliseum Box Office through Oct. 4. Five tickets, at $10 value, will be sold for $6, age 12 and over. Five tickets, at $5 value, will be sold for $3 for children ages six through 11.

LAST PLAY OF GAME—Jeff Moran, No. 14, runs out the clock as his interception ends a Stanislaus drive. Stanislaus recovered a Hawk fumble on the SSC 30 yardline with 1:07 left in the game and had moved to the Hawk's 42 when Moran's interception ended the game. Hancock held onto a 29-26 win for their fifth victory of the season. Stanislaus' record is now 2-2. (Courtesy of Liles' Keepsake Photography).

TEAM TACKLING—Jeff Moran, No. 14, draws a host of St. Stanislaus defensivemen in Friday's action. Stanislaus held the edge in the first half, leading the Hawks 20-12 with a Cedrick Smith passing attack. The Hawks dominated play in the second half, edging the Rocks 29-26 in a packed SSC stadium. Next Friday Stanislaus will host Poplarville and Hancock will host St. Martin. (SSC photo).

Hawks hold Rocks, take 29-26 victory

The Hancock North Central Hawks used a second-half surge to overcome a determined St. Stanislaus Rockachaw football team and emerged with a 29-26 hard fought win Friday night at Rockachaw stadium.

The victory kept the 11th-ranked Hawks undefeated at 5-0, while the Rockachaws fell to 2-2.

The game was close from the opening kickoff, with the Rockachaws holding an offensive advantage in the first half. The Hawks regrouped at halftime and scored on their first offensive possession of the second half, which helped swing momentum their way during the second half.

Terrence Goff was the game's leading rusher with 115 yards and three touchdowns including a 75-yard scoring bomb from Hawk quarterback Jeff Moran.

For the home-standing Rockachaws, Shannon Garrett had two touchdown receptions on 74-yard and 24-yard passes from Rock quarterback Cedric Smith.

Smith threw for four touchdowns in the contest. TD receptions by split end Scott Heitzmann on the first play moved man and Ken Booker accounted for the other Rockachaw scores. The Rocks had 270 yards passing and 68 yards rushing in the contest, while the Hawks balanced attack gained 194 yards on the ground and 126 in the air.

SSC drew first blood when Smith found Heitzmann open on a 30-yard scoring strike as Hawk defensive back Terrence Goff slipped down in the secondary. With 5:18 left in the first quarter, SSC led 7-0.

The Hawks came right back when Moran found Guy Graham behind the SSC defense on a long completion. Graham was tackled on the one-yard line, where Goff blasted over on the next play. Rock Craig Sweeney blocked Moran's extra point attempt as the Rocks held a 7-6 advantage.

After an exchange of possessions in the second quarter, Smith hit Garrett deep across the middle for a 74-yard touchdown. Scott Heitzmann's extra point increased the SSC lead to 14-6 with 7:41 left in the first half.

Goff returned the kickoff to his 28-yard line, but an offside the ball back to the HNC 28. Moran then rifled a 75-yard bomb to Goff who slipped behind Rockachaw coverage. The extra point attempt was no good and SSC held a 14-12 lead.

The Rocks were in the offensive flow of the game at this point, and chewed up yardage on a completion to Heitzmann and a screen pass to Gino Ascani.

Smith then lofted a beautiful touchdown pass to Ken Booker who caught the ball on his fingertips and raced in for the score. The extra point was blocked and SSC led 20-12 with 5:41 to go in the half.

Doodle Doyle returned the kickoff to the HNC 36, but the Rockachaw defense stiffened. The Hawks had another scoring opportunity when Moran threw deep to Sean Benefield and the pass fell off his outstretched arms. Moran's next pass for Doyle was intercepted by the Rocks with 1:29 left in the half.

After the completion to Booker, Smith hit Heitzmann with another apparent touchdown strike, but the Rocks were guilty of holding which nullified the touchdown.

The Rocks drove to the HNC 31 yardline as time expired in the first half with SSC leading 20-12.

The third quarter was all HNC as the Hawks took Heitzmann's kickoff and ran right into the teeth of the Rockachaw defense. Nice runs by Goff, Tirus Jackson and Guy Graham gathered first downs for the Hawks. Jackson scored on a 9-yard run off tackle, and Moran's 2-point conversion knotted the score at 20-20.

The Rocks could not get their offense rolling and Vince Altese punted to the HNC 29-yard line. The Hawks next drive stalled and forced Goff to punt. Goff's high kick was downed on the Rockachaw 1-yard line by Jeff Favre.

The Rocks were in a deep hole, and when they couldn't move the football, Altese had to punt from deep in his endzone. A high snap from center couldn't be handled by the punter, and HNC added a safety to take their first half lead of the contest 22-20.

Altese's free kick from the SSC 20 only traveled to the SSC 35-yard line, where the Hawks took over in excellent field position. With HNC's offensive line opening wide holes, Goff gained valuable yardage.

Moran's next pass was overthrown but the Rocks were called for pass interference and HNC had a first-and-ten from the SSC 12. Four plays later Goff hit paydirt on a 2-yard run, and the extra point was good, increasing the Hawk lead to 29-20 with over eight minutes left in the game.

SSC drove 70 yards on their next possession, as Smith mixed his passes to Heitzmann and Ascani. Shannon Garrett caught his second TD pass of the night on a 24-yard aerial from Smith, and the Rocks closed the gap to 29-26 with 6:16 left in the contest.

HNC took over on their 20 yardline and drove for three first downs, using up over 5 minutes off the clock in the process. Terrence Goff picked up the needed yardage to keep the drive alive, but a fumble on the SSC 30 yard line was recovered by Sean Sewell with 1:07 left in the game gave the Rocks one last chance.

Smith came out throwing, but HNC's defense put pressure on the Rock quarterback forcing incomplete passes. A screen to Ascani brought the ball to the 42 yardline, but on the last play of the game Smith's pass for Heitzmann was intercepted by the Hawks to seal the victory.

HNC offensive line coach Rocky Gaudin said, "I'm real proud of our boys. The offensive line won the game for us in the second half."

"In the first half we got away from the basics," added HNC defensive coach Tim Favre. "Maybe we overcoached a little for this game. But we settled them down at half and came out in the third quarter ready to play football."

SSC head coach Ken Lyons thought the Rockachaws gave an excellent game overall, and was pleased with his team's performance. "We had a tremendous effort on both sides of the ball," Lyons said. "We've come a long way since last year, and with a break-three, they could have won the game." Next week the Rocks and Hawks both play at home SSC hosts Rockville while Hancock battles St. Martin in a double-header.

Stone's Hence proves too much for Pirates

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Pass Christian Pirates met Stone County's Sam Hence Friday night and could not stop him.

Hence guided the Tomcats to 35-12 victory in an action-packed game where some of the game's most crucial moves resulted from a young Pass Christian team's errors.

"I think we played good ball. The kids played hard, but we were making mistakes like we've been doing," Pirate Head Coach Joseph Brown said. "It cost us."

Two injured players and four tough games coming up on the schedule may have also contributed to the loss, he commented.

On the first series of the game, the Pirates fumbled on the 20 yardline and Hence scooped up the ball to run in for a touchdown.

A successful PAT kick gave the Tomcats a 7-0 lead with 9:49 left in the first quarter.

Pass Christian went into an aerial attack that took the Pirates inside the Stone 15, then shifted back to the ground game, handing off to Lashaun the Pass Christian defense for that last yard and the touchdown.

Taylor added another kick and posted a score of 28-6 with 4:41 left in the third quarter.

Marcus Hinton picked up the next Stone County touchdown on short yardage just before the third quarter ended. Taylor added another kick to post a final score of 35 for the Tomcats.

Stone's defense stopped a Pirate drive in the fourth quarter.

Single parent organization founded for USM students

A 'Single Parents in School' organization at the University of Southern Mississippi has received a grant from the Forrest-Lamar County Mental Health Association.

The organization, founded in May of 1987 at USM, offers an opportunity for unmarried students with children to interact with other single parents at the university. USM is among only a few universities in the country that have this type of organization, a spokesperson said.

The group meets on the first ter by recovering a Pass Christian fumble on the Tomcat three, but Pass Christian rallied.

Going back to an aerial game, Sammy Taylor dropped back to fire a long pass to Burt Barrere, who scored a touchdown despite interference that resulted in a penalty for Stone.

With only 54 seconds on the clock, the Pirates attempted to run a conversion but were stopped by the Tomcat defense.

Next week, Pass Christian travels to East Central.

Ausmer. Ausmer ran around the left side for the Pirates' first six points.

An attempt to tie the score failed when Stone County blocked the PAT kick, and the Pirates edged behind 7-6 with 30 seconds left in the first quarter.

In second quarter action, Hence broke loose again, this time for a 45-yard run around the right side for a touchdown. Lance Taylor contributed his second PAT kick of the night to boost the score to 14-6 with 11:27 left in the half.

With only 58 seconds left before halftime, the Tomcats tried their luck in the air, passing to Marcus Hinton for a third touchdown. Taylor added a kick for the extra point.

Stone, going into the second half with a 21-6 lead, went back to the ground game, using mostly runs down the middle to work their way down to a first and goal at the Pirate one yardline. Shea Martin, running out of the Power-I formation, barreled through the middle of

HEARTS AND HANDS

HELPING OTHERS

Junior Auxiliary

A small group with a big impact

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Last year a small group of dedicated women with a common goal of improving the lives of children addressed a sensitive subject...child abuse.

The Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary, with only nine members, reached 1,605 Hancock County children in 15 schools with a message of hope—that they do not have to suffer silently in abusive situations...that someone will listen...and someone cares.

Armed with educational videotapes, coloring books and literature, six JA members volunteered more than 400 hours and logged in excess of 500 miles of travel implementing the HAPPY (Hancock Abuse Prevention Program for Youth) project.

Two hundred and fifty-three teachers were contacted through JA seminars. "Teachers are the key to our success," said Judy Miller, chairman and incoming JA president. "We rely on their cooperation to follow through after our puppet shows and programs are presented. A child is often willing to confide in his teacher."

And confidence is a major factor in detecting abuse. The "Someone To Talk To" puppet show depicts a student unwilling to remove his shirt for gym (physical abuse); a little girl who can't stay awake in class due to babysitting an infant sibling (neglect); and a withdrawn child (sexual abuse); all in a non-threatening manner. The child puppets confide in the adults (teachers, guidance counselor, principal), giving children the message that someone will listen to their problems.

The segment is one of several presented in grades one, three, five and nine and kindergarten. Funding for the HAPPY project was received through a Hancock County United Way grant administered through the Gulf Coast Mental Health Association.

Miller reports that cases were detected in Hancock County Schools as a result of the JA educational project. "If one child is able to turn his life around, all our time is well spent," she said.

Most schools have been very receptive to the Junior Auxiliary's efforts, noting that the need for child abuse education exists.

Although the chapter's involvement in this area has been extensive, their field of service is not limited to these programs.

A babysitting clinic designed for young teenagers will be conducted in late October at Hancock Medical Center. First aid instruction, fire safety and emergency assistance will be discussed during the day-long seminar. Renee Boxx, second vice president, is chairman.

"Things We Do For Love" is an ongoing social welfare project. Children are the primary focus of Junior Auxiliary on the local and national levels, and providing their basic necessities is of major importance. The Bay St. Louis chapter is currently assisting a single mother of two with food, clothing and shelter.

Included in this project are the donation of Christmas food baskets and toys to several needy families. Fee Genin has chaired this segment for several years.

A self-defense clinic for women will be presented by local law enforcement officers at an undisclosed date.

"Santa's House" is an ongoing successful Christmas party for elementary handicapped students. They are able to "purchase" family gifts provided by JA members with tokens earned in the classroom. Self-esteem is improved and a visit from Santa is enjoyed.

Library book donations are made to area schools in honor of members' newborns, first graders and high school graduates.

A cultural project is being researched by the chapter at present.

All endeavors are accomplished with an unselfish giving of many hours of volunteer work and are funded by the community's support of the Junior Auxiliary financial projects.

The annual "Trinkets and Treasures" yard sale is scheduled for Saturday, October 8, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m., at 409 Carroll Avenue in Bay St. Louis. Another fundraiser will be announced at a later date.

More women working outside of the home has caused a decline in membership in most Junior Auxiliary chapters, and Bay St. Louis is no exception. For those who have a few hours to devote to community service, Margaret Adams, past president, encourages that the rewarding results of Junior Auxiliary service are a wonderful experience.

"A few people working toward a better community CAN make a difference," said Miller.

The Bay St. Louis Junior is an excellent example.

JA life, associate members relate rewarding experiences

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Junior Auxiliary life and associate members can be a vital resource to active members. Their moral support and willingness to assist is invaluable to new members as they strive to meet the needs of the community.

Each year the chapter evaluates their service projects to ensure that they are timely and are not duplicated by any other organization. Some projects, such as social welfare, are enduring and have been part of the focus of the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary since its beginning.

Many Bay St. Louis JA members have remained active long after their five year terms have been completed.

Eleanor Hill, 1970-71 president, regards Junior Auxiliary as "a marvelous organization with the ability to reach many young lives" in the community. Many of the projects at that time dealt with health screening, drug abuse awareness and social welfare.

Providing shoes and clothing for needy children was a particularly rewarding experience, according to Hill, who has continued to be an ardent supporter of JA projects.

Grace Santa Cruz joined Junior Auxiliary in 1969 and remained an active member for more than 10 years. She regards that time as extremely worthwhile, helping others and learning the inner workings of the community. JA members often work with the welfare department and other agencies to obtain assistance for needy families.

Charter member Nell Frisbie's favorite project was "Summer Fun House", a six week summer camp featuring arts and crafts, fitness programs and babysitting instruction. She reflects on the lasting friendships formed during her JA association and on the gratifying feeling of serving the community.

Another past president, Lana Noonan, relates that her years of Junior Auxiliary service gave her a new perspective on the city in which she lives. "Helping others also allows you to count your own blessings," she said. "It is an excellent way for women to contribute to their communities."

SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE

In April 1906, San Francisco was destroyed by an earthquake and the ensuing fire that swept through the City.

Three years later, a new city had risen from the ashes. ETV viewers can witness how San Francisco was rebuilt in the first program of the new 16-part series, 'The American Experience,' at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 4.

Through newly restored archival film of the city before, during and after 'The Great San Francisco Earthquake,' and interviews with witnesses who recall the events of that time, the exuberance and optimism of the early 20th century are brought to life as efforts to return the city to its former grandeur are chronicled.

Recipes for life

By Fr. Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Observing that Americans eat foods cooked in too much fat, laced with too much salt, and washed down by too much alcohol, Dr. C. Everett Koop, the U.S. surgeon general, recently called the typical American diet a recipe for death.

None of us wants to hear that, of course. It just so happens that practically all of the things which flatter our taste buds most, such as butter, sugar, salt or marbled beef, are the worst culprits in gumming up the blood canals of our body.

Why couldn't at least some of the things which our body craves be good for us, or, at worst, neutral to our well-being? It almost seems that nature taunts us by setting up huge appetites within us which we cannot satisfy without ruining our health.

Because of the kinds of foods which most of us are strongly attracted to, our natural tendency is to adopt diets which are, in large part, virtual recipes for death.

That flies flush into the face of the strong declaration of Jesus about the main thrust of his mission on earth: "I came that they might have life, and have it to the full." (John 10:10)

Now Jesus did not come here to regulate our diets. Or did he? If we look at the mission of the Messiah in a holistic way, as indeed we should, then, yes, Jesus did come to regulate, improve and monitor everything which we have and do, including our diets.

St. Paul found this to be a problem with food and with all the dealings which we have with our body and with our human way of understanding, desiring and pursuing people and things:

"I do not understand what I do, for it is not what I wish that I do, but what I hate, that I do...I do not find the strength to accomplish what is good. For I do not do the good that I wish, but the evil which I do not wish, that I perform." (Romans 7:15 and 19)

In plain words, we are surrounded by recipes of death in every phase of our lifestyle, and we find it difficult to avoid these recipes and to refrain from using them in our lives. We literally experience a painful struggle between our body and our spirit.

This is another facet of one of the famed paradoxes of Jesus: "He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for my sake will find it." (Matthew 10:39)

Humanly speaking, just when we seem to be into the things which will give great tone and quality to our lives, we discover that many of these things will eventually kill us, even physically.

An early grave is the result of many of the things which we eat, drink and do habitually. On the other hand, when we seem to miss out on the zesty things of life by denying ourselves many of life's tastier morsels, our health, enjoyment and longevity improve.

Long before nutritionists and healthbuffs began to turn on to what is good and what is bad for us, Jesus had complete insight into the merits of listening intently to our body and to what our whole being is calling for and telling us to do.

However, rather than concentrate on avoiding and not using recipes of death in our lives, we should embrace recipes of life.

Paradoxically, all the recipes of life given us by Jesus can be summed up with: "Love your enemies. Do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who persecute and calumniate you." (Matthews 5:44)

If we can love those who are hostile to us, just as God did and continues to do every moment in our history, how much more can we love ourselves to the full? How much more can we love and be fulfilled with those persons who make our lives sparkle and glow?

'Values oriented' cable programming supported by Latter-Day Saints Church

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints has joined with 17 other religious organizations throughout the United States to sponsor an interfaith cable TV network designed to provide values oriented programming.

VISN (Vision Interfaith Satellite Network) is operated by the non-for-profit National Interfaith Cable Coalition with headquarters in New York City. Its programming began Sept. 19 with the first schedule offering a wide variety of programming from a broad range of faith groups.

The LDS Church is joining with Jewish, Catholic, Protestant and other faiths and organizations in preparing programs for the network. Agreements have already been made with cable systems having a total of 18.4 million subscribers, more than any other cable has had for its initial start-up, including, ESPN, CNN, HBO, or any of the more widely viewed networks.

"VISN will offer top quality values oriented programming," said Dr. Richard P. Lindsay, the church's managing director of Public Communications and Special Affairs.

"The programming has been prepared for a broad spectrum of views," Dr. Lindsay said, adding that "Persons of faith who have not been attracted to currently available religion oriented television will be drawn to VISN's rich mix of appropriate entertainment, music, drama and documentary."

"The emphasis will be on faith in God and moral values," Lindsay said.

It's important to note that VISN will not be making donations from viewers, he said, and not that type of organization.

Meanwhile, VISN officials are planning ways and means to provide the programs to non-cable subscribers, Lindsay said.

"At the present time no local cable systems are carrying VISN to its cable audiences."

"Hopefully, concerned viewers of all faiths will urge their local cable system to offer this new network," said President Boyd B. Loch.

Madden-Colquett

Caroline Belle Madden of Bay St. Louis and Jason Gregory Colquett of Schlatter, Miss., were recently wed during an evening ceremony at Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Nannette Penrose Stroh of Bay St. Louis and Mr. Robert Charles Stroh of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lane Colquett of Schlatter.

The Reverend Charles Richard Johnson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Ben Hille, organist. Soloists were Miss Kathleen Marie Stieffel, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Bunk Gardner.

The couple repeated their vows at the altar which was decorated with two Tree of Life candelabra and a Unity candelabrum. Adorning the altar were two arrangements of snapdragons, gladioli, stock, gerber daisies, fugi mums and Queen Anne's lace.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white satin with Queen Anne neckline softly accented with self-ruffle with tiny button closure at the back neckline above an open back on the fitted bodice bodice appliqued with pearl decorated venise lace and enhanced with full puffed shadow sleeves. The full skirt was appliqued with hand-clipped European laces and a hemline border of scalloped schiffli lace encircled with cathedral train with satin ruffles.

Her elbow-length gloves were of imported satin, and she wore a crescent wreath of pearl sprays and imported crystals with illusion pouf at the back and fingertip veil, her matinee-length pearls, which were a wedding gift from the bridegroom, and single pearl earrings complemented her wedding attire.

The bride held a free-form cascading bouquet of white bridal roses and stephanotis accented with Queen Anne's lace and English glacier ivy. Dana Leigh Favre of Houston, Texas was maid of honor and Mrs. Michael A. Maggio of Conway, Ark. was matron of honor.

Also attending the bride were Mrs. Bernard E. Moran and Katherine K. Kennedy, both of Bay St. Louis, and Lori A. O'Dell of Greenwood.

The attendants were identically attired in floor-length gowns in an aqua abstract floral cotton print, each with princess bodice, self-ruffle at the shoulders, dropped waistline and full gathered skirt. They wore imported pearls, a gift from the bride, and carried hand-tied arm bouquets of lavender long-stemmed roses and white freesia, loosely tied with a moire taffeta bow.

Belle Harris Penrose of Waveland, godchild and cousin of the bride, and Lessie Marie Stephen of Yazoo City, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

Rice bag girls were Sarah Seay Stephen of Yazoo City, niece of the bridegroom, and Helen Rebekah Penrose of Waveland, cousin of the bride.

The flower girls and rice bag girls all wore white linen dresses, each with empire waistline and handkerchief collar. They wore wreaths of baby's breath with ribbon streamers at the back.

Acolytes were Mary Catherine Penrose of Waveland and Gary Wayne Walker of Gulfport, both cousins of the bride.

Scripture readers were Mrs. James S. Stephen Jr. of Yazoo City, sister of the bridegroom, and Rene' E. Dupaquier of New Orleans, cousin of the bride.

The groom's father served as best man.

Groomsmen were Howard M. Benz of Schlatter; M. Collier Tillman of Greenwood; Lawrence R. Geisewite of Memphis; and Karl C. Stroh of Bay St. Louis, brother of the bride.

Ushers were B. Jeffrey Crick of Minter City; Henry B. Chapman of New Orleans; Matthew J. Stieffel of Mobile; and L. Bishop Stieffel of Bay St. Louis, all cousins of the bride.

A reception was held at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Tracey E. Stieffel, cousin of the bride presided at the guest register table. A sterling pitcher, which was a wedding gift of the bride's great grandmother, decorated the table. In the pitcher were white bridal roses, white gladioli, white freesia, Queen Anne's lace, English ivy and long-stemmed Cutting the four-tiered wedding cake was Mrs. N. H. Penrose Jr., aunt of the bride.

The groom's cake was served by Mrs. James F. Labenberg, aunt of the groom.

Adorning the mantle of the fireplace were magnolia leaves and a silver champagne bucket filled with pink delphinium, white fugi mums, pink bovardia, lavender roses, liatris, freesia, pink larkspur and pink snapdragons. Magnolia leaves and blossoms were also in the fireplace.

Dixieland jazz music was provided by Walter G. Chamberlain, John W. Dupaquier, cousin of the bride, Charlie Smith and Basil T. Kennedy.

After a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the couple is living in Schlatter where the bridegroom is employed with Crossroads, Gin, Inc.

Pre-nuptial parties
Carole Belle Madden and Jason Gregory Colquett were honored with several parties before their wedding.

In early April, a wine and cheese party was given by the mother of the bride, Mrs. Nannette P. Stroh. Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Colquett, parents of the bridegroom, honored the couple with a garden party in late May at their home, Beaulieu. The following day, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Labenberg gave a brunch at their home.

The bride was honored with a luncheon at the Winery Rushing in Merigold. Hostesses were Mrs. Lois L. Walker III, Mrs. Harold L. Coleman Sr., Mrs. Harold L. Coleman Jr., Mrs. W. Marlon Jennings and Mrs. David O. Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne M. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bush and Mr. and Mrs. David W. Bush hosted a barbeque at New Hope Plantation.

Mrs. Clifford F. Gaudin honored the couple with a wine and cheese party, and Mrs. Rosalie W. Kergosien honored the bride with a 'Christmas in July' party.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil T. Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Chapman entertained the couple's family and friends with a 'Red Rooster' party at the Kennedy home overlooking the Bay. Music was provided by the Bo and Dee blues band.

Mrs. Bernard E. Moran, Dana L. Favre, and Mrs. Samuel L. Favre had a rice bag party in honor of the bride.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Norvin H. Penrose Sr., grandparents of the bride entertained the couple's immediate family with a gumbo dinner two nights before the wedding.

The bridesmaids' luncheon was held at Mauffray Room of the Landmark Restaurant. Hostesses were Mr. Edgar W. Santa Cruz and Mrs. Walter G. Chamberlain.

Collier Tillman hosted a stag luncheon for the groom, groomsmen and ushers at the Dock of the Bay Restaurant.

The Landmark Restaurant was the setting of the rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents.

Mrs. F. Erwin Truett and Mrs. Neil P. Frisbie hosted a brunch the day of the wedding at the Frisbie home.

KITCHEN CORNER

A Tip From Martha Stewart:
K mart Entertainment And Lifestyle Consultant

"My busy schedule often calls for a Quick Cook meal. To do this with ease, there are certain things I do ahead of time. Pie crusts, cookies, puff pastry and pasta can be made ahead and frozen. A well- and cleverly stocked pantry can be a timesaver. And I can set a beautiful table while the meat cooks."
